THE TRUTH ABOUT SPORT IS NEVER A KNOCKWHIFFS FROM THE OLD
SPORT PIPE
BY Redington

Honoluluans who saw the Olympic games at Stockholm last summer can be counted on the fingers of one hand, and yet several thousand Honoluluans have a clear and accurate idea of the way the 1912 Olympics were handled, the appearance of the stadium, and the personal characteristics of the athletes. All this through the "movies," which have caught the very spirit of competitive sport, and stored it away for the pleasure and education of those to whom Sweden is as inaccessible as Saturn.

At the Liberty theater for the last three nights motion pictures of the Olympic games have been shown on the screen. There are three full reels of the Stockholm games, and taken as a whole the film is probably the finest that has ever been shown in this city. The pictures are wonderfully clear, and the patching is done with such good judgment that it is as though the spectators were afforded a bird's eye view of the entire performance. A little bit of everything is shown, and one can get an excellent idea of a festival of sport which lasted more than ten days, in less than an hour.

Of course the local audience took a "look-see" at Duke Kahanamoku, and was somewhat disappointed when one brief glimpse of the Hawaiian swimmer in the procession of American athletes past the royal box in Honolulu's representative. There is one view of a swimming race, but Duke isn't in it. But then, neither does Jim Thorpe, the greatest all-round athlete the world has ever known, appear in any part of the film. Many of the other American point-swimmers are in evidence, but for some reason the great "Indian" performer wasn't caught in the act.

The military riding competitions are especially interesting as shown on the screen. There is splendid action to them, and even the brief glimpses of the horses shows what splendid animals the American team, which took third place, was up against.

Ralph Craig, Ralph Rose, Mat McGrath, and a dozen other well-known American athletes are shown in action and posed before the camera after winning their various events. Of special interest to Honoluluans are the representations of the discus-throwing and javelin-throwing events, which are new to local people.

The film will be put on again Saturday, for both the matinee and evening performances, and it is well worth anyone's while to see it. In fact, those who take an intelligent interest in athletic competitions shouldn't let the chance slip, if they haven't already seen the film.

Pictures of the Honolulu auto races, and the Maui horse races, taken by Eddie Fernandez, lead off the show, and are interesting from familiarity with the originals.

PRINCELY GUARANTEE
OFFERED JESS WILLARD

CHICAGO, January 6.—Three matches before the National Sporting Club of London, which will net $75,000, have been offered members of the "booby" brigade in good standing, and the only heavy-weight credited with a decision over Luther McCarty, recognized champion of the world.

The London officials, agreement, as far as could be ascertained, named no opponents for Willard, claiming the right to match him with any fighter they saw fit. It is believed, however, that Bombardier Wells English heavy-weight champion, will be Willard's first opponent. Sam Langford and Sam McVey are other heavyweights hinted to as likely opponents, and this has caused a hitch in signing.

When Willard started fighting he announced that under no condition would he box a colored man. For this reason he has delayed affixing his name to the contract and has cabled London officials asking that only white boxers be signed to meet him. In case his request is not granted he may change his mind.

CHICAGO, January 6.—Billy McCarty, manager of Luther McCarty, the new king of the white heavyweights, said in effect today in a telegram to a Chicago newspaper that Jess Willard, the local fighter, must make a reputation before he would be given a fight by the ruler of the big division.

Willard refused today the offer of a local syndicate to manage him. He announced he would stand by his friend, Charley Cutler, a wrestler, who discovered Willard. The fighter said Cutler fed him for several months before he secured matches.

If you want to be well entertained at a political convention, you should go as an uninstructed delegate.

SITUATION REVERSED:
AUSTRALIA TO SEND
BALL TEAM TO STATES

Australia has taken up baseball in earnest and is now preparing to send a picked nine to the United States. This is the news brought to San Francisco by C. C. Spink, publisher of the St. Louis Sporting News, who arrived recently from Sydney.

Australia, he says, is the greatest sporting country in the world, and, although its adoption of baseball is comparatively recent, there are already more than 500 Australians, men and boys, playing the game. He didn't see any games while there, but from American fans living in Sydney, men who knew baseball when they saw it played, he learned that the Australians were putting up a good sample of America's national game.

"They are raising the money now to send their best nine to this country," he said. "The Oceanic Steamship company has donated $500 toward paying the steam's expenses and the Spalding people have promised a similar sum. The Australian government will help with a contribution and the different cities of the commonwealth will be asked to contribute. They expect to raise $7,500 and will be over here in a few months."

Cal Ewing was to have accompanied Spink to Australia, but at the last minute changed his mind. Spink intended going from Sydney to China and Japan, but did not like the steamer on which he would have had to make the trip, so returned on the Ventura.

TOO MANY DEAD-
HEADS AT MAUI,
RACE MEETINGS

WAILUKU, Maui, Jan. 15.—The annual meeting of the Maui Racing Association was held last night in the Wailuku Town Hall. There was a good attendance of members. The meeting was certainly one of the liveliest the association has held for some time. W. T. Robinson, the former president, was re-elected by acclamation. D. H. Case and Ben Lyons were nominated for the vice-presidency, and Mr. Case won out. W. V. Crockett and E. K. Byrnes were nominated for the office of secretary-treasurer. Mr. Crockett, who held the office for the last year, was re-elected. By acclamation, Angus McPhed, Louis von Tempy and D. T. Carey were elected the executive committee, who, together with the officers of the association, have charge of getting up the program for the Fourth of July.

The discussions of the evening were aroused by the fact that the association is in debt, and the members felt that every means possible should be taken to place the Maui Racing Association on a firm financial basis. Several members thought the fault lay in the admission of too many people on membership passes, while others felt sure that the purses should not be made so large in the future. It was remarked that one year a man took 28 members of his family into the grand stand. He brought in not only his immediate relatives but those connected with him in the most distant way. The members of the association felt that the privileges of free entrance into the races should be confined to members only, and perhaps the wives of the members. After some discussion two motions were passed unanimously which provided that a member and one lady accompanying him should be admitted free; that for each visitor who resided away from Maui the member should obtain a ticket from the president upon the ticket, for which was to be paid the usual admission, both at the gate and at the grandstand. Several hundred dollars were lost last year by the carelessness of the members in paying no attention to the rules. It is expected that this year the receipts will be much larger than for some time in the past.

The executive committee, together with the officers, are to make up the program of races for the Fourth and a meeting of the whole association is to be called as soon as the program is ready for approval. It is confidently expected by all members of the Maui Racing Association that the coming Fourth will be the biggest day in the history of the sport on the Valley Isle.

OAKLAND ROLLERS ACCEPT
CHALLENGE OF LOCAL "Y"

The Cherries, winners of the Club League Series. This fast bowling team carried off the honors in the last Y. M. C. A. rolling competition. The players are: Left to right, standing—O. C. Swain, J. Mills, W. A. Rabeman. Seated—W. Williams, H. V. Gear.

Five Matches Will Be Rolled
Between Island and Mainland
Teams, Commencing Feb. 5.
Oakland Has Strong Aggregation of Pin-Smashers and Locals Will Have to Hustle to Annex Long End of Score.
Total Pinfall to Count

The Oakland Y. M. C. A. has taken up the def of the local bowlers, and a series of five matches has been arranged between the two associations, the first alley engagement being scheduled for Wednesday, February 5. This is good news to Honolulu pin smashers, who have been trying for some time to hook up with some of the crack mainland teams, and a 15-game schedule is quite lengthy enough to furnish a fair test of relative ability.

Manager Wisdom, of the local Y. M. C. A. He yshas been angling for a series with San Francisco and Oakland for some time past, and the last mail brought him a satisfactory answer from the latter city. It has taken some time for the Coasters to come to a decision, but as matters have turned out this is a better time for a series of the kind than December would have been, there being more bowling activity here at present than ever before.

Th letter of W. J. Dunstan, of the Oakland "Y" to A. T. Wisdom, is in part as follows:

"Your letter of November 29 was received. I shall be very pleased to cooperate with you in a series of inter-association bowling matches, if agreeable and convenient for you, let us leave the first game Wednesday evening, February 5, and every Wednesday evening thereafter until the finish of the tournament. We could bowl three strings of five men, the highest pinfall to win the game.

"Wednesday evening is the only evening I can give to the tournament. We shall begin about 8.15 p. m.

"The San Francisco association has closed its alleys, so there is nothing doing with them.

"If this tournament is successful, perhaps by next season we can get Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle and San Francisco, to join it.

"I shall have my team ready to begin on February 5, 1913. I shall be glad to hear from you in the mean time. The men here at send their best wishes to you.

Wisdom formerly managed the Oakland "Y" alleys, and he says that they have some class rollers to take part in the coming matches. The Honolulu and Oakland teams will roll single targets, making allowances for the differences of time, and after each match the total pinfall will be exchanged by cable.

The local team for each evening's rolling is to be selected by a committee of three, and this committee will probably be selected by a vote of the local bowlers. In picking the "five men" for each match, the committee will not be bound to select the rollers having the highest average in the "Y" league at that particular time, but will use their judgment in the selection of five men that will be most use in rolling up the score. Consistency will count for a good deal, and quite possibly there will be changes for each evening of competition, so that probably a dozen men will have a crack at the cable tournament.

COMMITTEE MEETING.

The schedule committee, which has in charge the arrangement of games in the coming local "Y" tournament, will hold a meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon, to figure out playing dates for the seven competing teams. Interest is at a high pitch.

WILL SAIL SHAMROCK
OUT TO SAN FRANCISCO

Thomas L. Miller, head of the San Francisco syndicate of sportsmen who will build a yacht, to represent San Francisco in the big regatta of 1915, received a letter from Captain Thomas Fleming Day of New York yesterday advising him that he had promised Sir Thomas Lipton to sail the Shamrock for participation in the race.

Captain Day is editor of the Rudder, a well-known yachting organ, and is the brave sailor who sailed the twenty-foot vessel "Sra" Hild across the Atlantic in 1911. He also took over the thirty-five-foot motor-boat Detroit in 1912.

GOOD TENNIS IN THE PUNAHOU
TOURNEYHind Beats Timberlake in Fast
Three-Set Match That Brings
Out Best Tennis of the Afternoon — Johnny O'Dowda's
Chances for Final Honors Are Fancied

The second round in the Punahou tennis tournament was played off yesterday afternoon, amid much excitement and interest on the part of both spectators and players. Many of the bets were extremely fast. Perhaps the best match played during the afternoon and the one which aroused the most interest, was that between Hind and Timberlake, the former winning, 3-7, 6-6, 6-4. The first set of this exciting match was undoubtedly the best, as both players were fresh and played up to the mark. The second set was an easy one for Timberlake, but the third set Hind rallied and came out with colors flying.

O'Dowda and Renton, the two crack players from Ewa, both won their respective sets easily. O'Dowda defeated Melnecke, with two love sets and Renton defeating Coney 6-0, and 6-1. The game which is being looked forward to with great anticipation among the students is the one between O'Dowda and Renton, which will come off in the semi-finals on Friday.

The winners and their sets in yesterday's games were as follows:
J. Watt defeated M. Campbell, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4; H. Fassoth defeated R. Horne, 6-1, 6-4; D. Wadsworth defeated G. Gibb, 6-3, 6-4; J. O'Dowda defeated J. Melnecke, 6-0, 6-0; A. Renton defeated W. Coney, 6-0, 6-1; J. Hind defeated W. Timberlake, 3-7, 6-6, 6-4; C. Emory defeated R. Gray, 6-4, 7-5.

Tomorrow the semi-finals are to be played, and there is a good deal of discussion as to who will get through to the finals. The players who appear to have the best chances are O'Dowda, Renton and Hind. All three are good players and it would be hard to decide between them, but from results so far obtained it looks as though O'Dowda has a little the best chances to win top honors.

BASEBALL WITH A FOOTBALL
LATEST

Honolulu has taken a crack at almost every game and sport, excepting, of course, those pastimes which flourish only in the land of red roses and frothbitten fingers, but here's one that has never been tried here, and that might make a big hit if introduced.

The very latest in games is baseball played with a football. The new friend of the magnate and the professional players' nemesis is Professor Benscoter of the Wilkesbarre, Pa., high school. As inventor of the new game he explains it as follows:

"A baseball can not be easily held by players in cold weather, hence the need of a game with the larger, clumsier football. It is played on a baseball diamond, with the same number of players on a side, the most notable difference being that there is no pitcher; this player occupies the place of another shortstop—right shortstop—between first and second.

"The ball is put into play by being kicked from home plate and the runner hikes for first, as in baseball, and is put out by the passing of the ball to first ahead of him, as in baseball, or being touched by it in the hands of a player.

"The runner may not advance from a base when the ball has not been passed to the baseman, who touches the base while the runner is there; this debars the runner from advancing from the base until it has been again kicked out; if likewise debars any runner back of him. The kick may be of any sort—place, punt or drop kick.

"The runner may be declared out if he advances from the base before the ball is kicked out. If the ball is kicked foul the kicker is out; he is also out if he falls in an attempt to kick.

"The game is very lively, being full of constant kicking, running, catching and passing. It develops strength, speed, accuracy, skill, and with less liability to accidents even than in baseball on account of the freedom from the chance of being injured by a pitched or batted ball."

The so-called blushing bride usually has a red face from drying her complexion on new towels.

YES, SIR, THIS WOULD BE PERFECT BALL PLAYING

Some dopest, evidently running shy of winter league stuff, sat him down to make a few ball players himself, and here are the results of his cogitations:

Take Ty Cobb's speed, Artie Hoffman's marvelous twisting body, Duffy Lewis' throwing arm, Jimmy Sheppard's head and Tris Speaker's hands. Mix well, and you have the best imaginable baseball player.
Take Artie Griggs' energy, Wilbert Robinson's body, Snodgrass' hands, Tom Needham's feet, John McGraw's throwing arm and George Grover's head. Fit them together and you have the worst imaginable player.
Give Ty Cobb Tris Speaker's arm and you have a baseball player whose like has never yet been seen.

Coast Paper Gives
Duke Great Boost

Compilation of the 1912 swimming records has brought the name of Duke Kahanamoku again into prominence on the mainland. The Sacramento Union of recent date says:

Fifty per cent of 1912's swimming can be written around one nut-brown Duke Kahanamoku, who flashed across the aquatic firmament from far-away Hawaii in a blaze of bright glory. The other half—or, to be strictly impartial—the other seven-sixteenths—may be dated Chicago, and conceded to Chicagoans. Hatfield of England, Hodgson of Canada, Longworth of Australia and Bathe of Germany furnish the foreign fireworks.

Kahanamoku, was the sensation of the year. His marvelous sprinting made the world's best look like child's play. Unused to tank-swimming with its puzzling turns, he held his own with such performers as Perry McGilvray, Kenneth Huszagh and Dick Frielle. But when he went over to the Olympic games and there competed in the shorter distances with longer straightaways and less turns, the world took a back seat and watched him go.

Perry McGilvray of the U. S. C. swam the fastest quarter mile in years as one of the features of the year—lopping eight seconds from the mark held by Daniels, and doing this with a consummate ease that proved beyond all doubt that he was the fastest man in the world at this distance. McGilvray is climbing and climbing fast.

Harry Heber, also a tri-color performer, remained the undefeated prodigy of former years in the backstroke events. The cream of the world fell before him at the Olympic games, the best America could produce, were humbled by him in the tryouts and outclassed in the A. A. U. championships.

UHLAN TO GO
AFTER RECORD

Speed, speed—that's what is in store for light-harness enthusiasts this coming season. Following close on the heels of Trainer Havis James, announcement that he will give Joe Patchen II a careful race at Pleasanton to shatter the existing pacing record of the world, the news has been flashed from the East the Uhlans, the black wonder, will make an attempt to lower his world's trotting record. Thus with both trotters and pacers making onslaughts on the records, there will likely be something doing when they are straightened away.

Uhlans will have undisputed right to try and beat 1:58 for a mile, as he shaved three-quarters of a second off the record at Lexington last year, but in the case of Joe Patchen II some argument may arise. Trainer and Driver James believes that if he hustles the famous pacer around the circle in better than 1:58½ he can advance his charge as the record-holder. Dan Patch gets credit in the books with a mark of 1:55½, but as that mark was turned with the aid of pace-in-front and a wind shield, James is of the opinion that the record should be thrown out and Minor Heir's 1:58½ accepted. So Joe will try and beat that.

Uhlans is wintering at Augusta, Ga., and will be handled carefully all winter. He will undergo a siege of training and his handlers confidently expect him to startle the world with a fast mile when the time is ripe. Uhlans is a wonderful trotter and it would not be surprising to see him negotiate a mile in better than 1:58.

TWENTY-FIFTH IS AN ATHLETIC
REGIMENTWhen in the Philippines Colored Soldiers Cleaned Up Everything in the Competitions.
Foot-Racer Proved That He Could 'Eliminate Space'

Local sportsmen are looking forward with keen anticipation to the time when the Twenty-fifth Infantry gets shaken down in its new station, and uncovers some of its star athletic teams and individual performers. This colored regiment has a big reputation in the service, and it is expected that there will be a whole lot doing when the men get in the game here. There are ball teams, scrappers, runners and bike racers of class among the men, and no doubt the regiment will cut a big figure in local competitions.

An officer of the Second Infantry who was stationed at Zamboanga with the twenty-fifth in 1907, yesterday dictated on the athletic prowess of the latter regiment.

"Those fellows go in for every kind of sport, from cock fights to pig-pone," he said. "Down at Zambo they carried off everything, and it was really laughable the way they cleaned up from the other organizations. In one athletic meet they won everything on the card but a match hundred yards, if I remember rightly, and that was a dead heat.

Eliminated Space.

"This race was between a little chap in our regiment, who used to be a professional runner, and a big chap in the Twenty-fifth named George Washington. I don't know whether he's still with the regiment, but at that time there were about eighteen George Washingtons in it, so you can't tell by looking on the rolls. The colored soldiers were great ones to bet, and would back their own teams to the limit, covering in a few hours money that took the other organizations days to raise. There was about a thousand dollars up on this foot race, and a lot of excitement over it. Our men knew all the tricks of the trade, and beat the gun by six feet, but at that George Washington caught him at the tape, and the judges called it a dead heat. Someone asked Washington what happened, whereupon he drew himself up, and with great dignity said: 'Ah was detained at the starting line, but you must admit that when Ah started Ah was first. Ah suitably eliminated space.'"

Besides Holie Giles, the crack welterweight scrapper, there are several other husky fighters in the regiment, with or without gloves. There are several runners, and a flock of challenges may be seen winging their way in from Lihlehu before long.

Boosts Soccer.
The 68th company of coast artillery, at Fort Kamehameha, has a first rate soccer team, and will probably be looking for games before long. Captain Taylor, now in command at Kam, is an ardent soccer fan, and thinks that his company will be ready to take on local aggregations with credit to the corps. A suitable football field will be cleared on the Kanehameha reservation as soon as possible.

Sport JETSAM
and FLOTSAM

It is getting so that a baseball fan never has a chance to hibernate any more.

The nation's golf-bill is $6,000,000 a year, and there are some players who will be surprised to hear that it is so high; no one has computed the highball bill that goes with it.

If the New York Americans go well next season it will be because Frank Farrell wasn't afraid to take a chance.

Baseball played with a football is the latest, according to the news columns. How lucky for our tender toes that the sport investors didn't make it the other way round.

Jack Johnson might get a promoter to listen to him by coming to Honolulu and enlisting in the Twenty-fifth Infantry. The fight game is good on the islands.

SUNDAY'S BASEBALL

The baseball program for next Sunday afternoon at Athletic Park consists of a curtain raiser between the Asahi Juniors and C. A. U. the fourth game of the pennant series; a game between the J. A. C. and P. A. C. and match walking race at a mile and a half between Jackson and Meek.
